

PELVIC RADIATION DISEASE ASSOCIATION

Partnership Opportunities

Supporting cancer
survivors with PRD

WHO ARE WE

The Pelvic Radiation Disease Association (PRDA) is a small UK charity dedicated to improving the lives of the estimated 100,000 people living with long-term health problems after radiotherapy for cancer.

- We provide practical and emotional support to patients and families.
- We raise awareness among healthcare professionals across the NHS and facilitate networking to share best practice.
- We advocate for better diagnosis, treatment, and services for people affected by Pelvic Radiation Disease (PRD).

WHY PARTNER WITH US

Reach a vital audience: PRDA works closely with a range of healthcare professionals, patients and carers.

Make a measurable difference: Partnerships directly improve quality of life for cancer survivors often overlooked by mainstream services.

Demonstrate CSR leadership: Supporting PRDA aligns with corporate goals on health equity, survivorship, and patient-centred care.

Small charity, big impact: Your support can have an immediate, visible effect.
